Alderman RATHBONE in the Chair,

It was resolved unanimously,—

Resolved also,—

"That the thanks of this Association be given to the spirited proprietors of the Sentinel for the handsome manner in which they offer the services of that paper for the advocacy and support of the Liberal cause in Macclesfield."

The Association respectfully solicit all the friends of liberty and progression to promote the circulation of the Sentinel in these districts, by which means the inhabitants of the town may enjoy the advantage of reading an impartial and respectable journal.

LECTURES.

OUR MEDICAL LIBERTIES.—Philosophy and Science of Medicine, versus the Evils of Medical Monopoly: and of the Mineral and Mercurial Practice of the Schools.

The present degraded condition of Medical Practice demands an unprejudiced and impartial hearing for every man professing to throw any light upon the subject.

Who seeks the truth is wisely hoping,
And should be received with kindness;
Who shuns its light is darkly groping
In a world of mental blindness.

JOHN SKELTON, M.D., Member of the Medical College, Worcester, Mass. U.S., Author of the "Family Medical Adviser," "Plea for the Botanic Practice of Medicine," "Pathology and Cure of Cholera," Epitome of the Botanic Practice, and Book of Health for the Million," will deliver a LECTURE V.—At Burslem, on Monday Evening, next, February 12th, in the Primitive Methodist Chapel, Nile-street.—At Tunstall, on Tuesday Evening, next, February 13th, in the Primitive Methodist School-room.

SUBJECT.

Disease; its philosophy, treatment and order—Acute and Chronic disease—of Colds and Inflammations—Cuts, Wounds, Bruises, and Broken Breasts—of Boiling, Blistering, and Mercurialising—American Statistics—Figures, Follies, and Facts.

The lectures will be splendidly illustrated with Anatomical Physiological, and Botanical Diagrams, Diseased Stomachs Caries, Bones, &c.

Dr. SKELTON most respectfully invites the attention of the Faculty. His object is to build up the profession, not to pull it down.

He may be consulted the day after his lectures, at Mr. Henry Lawton's 32, Waterloo-road, Burslem; and at Mr W. Broadhurst's, Challinor's New Buildings, Woodland-street, Tunstall. All the medicines used in Dr. Skelton's practice may be had at Mr. Samuel Cope's, No. 31, Edmund-street, Hanley.
