

Coyote Mentoring

Workshop for Parents, Educators and Mentors
Sunday, June 7th Hosted by: Tofino Nature School

Learn how the Coyote "teacher-trickster" inspires a compelling need to know, guiding the passion of the student to his or her own learning.

"Nature is the teacher, the mentor is the guide"

Earth-based cultures from around the world, have taught their children in "invisible schools" for thousands of years through a set of powerful techniques known as Coyote Mentoring.

Coyote's techniques include story-telling, reflective questioning, and both structured and spontaneous experience.

In this workshop you will sing, laugh and play as you learn to:

Understand the models and concepts that underlie this ancient way of passing on cultural and practical knowledge

Guide learning by using the skills and techniques of the Coyote

Create a sense of fun and curiosity in your students as they learn

Honour the relationship among children, youth, adults and elders

Inspire and affirm this and future generations in caring for our natural world

Morning 10:00 am - 12:00 pm: All ages welcome - Children 12 and under must be accompanied with an adult
- You will experience being mentored as if we were all in a village, living in a culture where mentoring is the way of education. Learn as we sing, laugh and play together.

Afternoon 1:00 pm - 4:00 pm: Adults only

We will explore some models, philosophy, and techniques of Coyote Mentoring:

- The Natural Learning Cycle introduced and applied to the morning experience
- The Core Routines of natural awareness
- Coyote Mentoring in a nut shell – the basic techniques of Coyote Mentoring
