CHAPTER ONE.

You Are the Best.

God created every lady to be a suitable helper in this generation. Most times, ladies forget their Divine Nature and begin to malfunction. This is the reason why this eBook is within your reach at the moment. The moment you forget and abandon your original design as a lady, you cease to walk in your authority.

Testing a man with sincere and innocent reason does it make it right as a believer. There is no scriptural approval for you to test a man. Testing a man is also a display of your lack of trust in God. It means God is not capable to taking care of you. Most of time, this is practiced by ladies that have lost their personal fellowship with God.

Every man that you are attracted to or that is attracted to you is for one single reason. This reason is for you help. God will always use a lady to help a man to walk in His plan. The devil will always use a lady to help a man into his wicked plan. Whatsoever any man has achieved and become today is through the help of a lady somewhere. As a lady, you must understand that you are the gate into the world of human. Everything in the operation of God and in the operation of darkness has a woman as their access point of execution. This is how important you are as a lady.

In this revelation, it is wise for you to learn to redefine yourself according to the original design of God. A lady was created because Adam needed help. This is the major point that some ladies have failed to understand.

Every man has the tendency to fail because being a man does not mean they can't fail or fall. The highest level of maturity of a man is in his acknowledgement that he needs help. Man was created not to have it all so he will be in need of a help reserved in a lady. As a lady, if you don't understand you are here to help, you will add stress to the same man God has ordained for you to help.

You must have the understanding that even your relationship with any man is supposed to be pleasing unto God. There is no two ways about it. The moment you put laws into your hands in treating a man the way that pleases you, without considering your original design, you will fail.

Before you pick argument with me base on the opinion of the society or social media, let's get back to the scriptures. God's original design for a woman is for her to be a suitable helper. The moment you begin to function outside this specification, you being to insult your original design.

I am aware that most of the reason why some ladies test a man is to be sure their fears wont manifest. Every fear in you about men or your relationship with them ought to be a legal ground to learn and understand God's opinion about what you are afraid. Irrespective of the negative testimonies you have heard, and movies you have watched. There is an unsaid version of the cry of every lady.

All the negative stories you heard about how wicked men is wont start from the point of where the lady didn't cooperate with God. The woman won't tell you how she ignored the counsel of her parents. The woman won't tell you how she refused to listen to the advice of her pastor or youth leader. They won't tell you how they abandoned bible studies, their prayer life and dreams just to keep their relationship surviving with this man. They won't tell you how they stopped learning and making their decision base on the scriptures. They won't tell you where they failed; they will only highlight the response or reaction of the man about what they did to the man.

I am not in any way making excuses for men misbehavior but nothing just happened. A man can't just start hating and beating his lover without cause. If you didn't give room to the devil, he can't just step into your relationship and destroy it. Is either your thoughts, words or attitude became a gate way where the devil used to step into your relationship. The devil could not step into the Garden of Eden until the woman permitted him through her thoughts, decision and attention. To every abusive relationship where a woman is victimized, she contributed and opened the door for the devil to step into her relationship with the man.

This is a wake up God for every lady to knee in the place of prayer and become a covering to her man instead of exposing her man by testing her man. If God has called you to the life of a man, you are the compliment to the errors and fault you notice in this man. No man is perfect and that is why they need you to function according to your original design (suitable helper).

Exposing a man's weakness and proving it to people this man is weak is an insult to the reason why God brought you into the life of that man. If you are wise as you prove to people, how come you can't use that same wisdom to help the weakness of your man into strength? The sign of your strength is in how your strength has helped the weakness of your man.

Even Jesus had some set of women that ministered to his needs. If the son of God only succeeded through the help of women, any man needs the support and help. Your strength is not identifying an error but in also becoming a solution to the error you have noticed in a man.

Any man you are not willing to help is a man you should not date. Any man whose error does not inspire your strength into actions, complimenting his weakness is a man you should not accept to date or marry. If you have no business helping and supporting a man, you have no business having a relationship with him.

Every thought to test any man is a function of a fear that has caged you either by what you have heard or seen. Irrespective of what you have heard or seen that makes you to be afraid, evaluate yourself. Identify your fear and understand what the scripture has to say about it. If you are testing a man to know if he will take care of you in relationship, what you need to do is to do to him what you are afraid he won't do for you.

You can actually use your fear to build your relationship. Most of the ladies that are afraid a man will stop communicating with them don't always engage their lover actively in communication. If you are thinking of testing a man to know if he will insult you or not, what you should do is to always respect him. The principle of God still says, what you sow is what you reap. You test a man to know if he will respect you by you being disrespectful to him.

Don't testing a man and begin to sow into your relationship, what you want to reap from your lover. If you are afraid of him not giving attention to your siblings and parents, begin to pay attention to the lives of His siblings and parents too.

You are testing him to know if he will leave you for another lady yet you are so unavailable, distant and so busy that you don't call or chat with him. Can't you see you are the very problem of yourself? Testing a man will never bring out the best in that man for you. Just as you don't like a man testing or playing with your emotion, so men feel the same way.

Every man approaches you because he has some level of trust in what he needs in a relationship. For a man to ask you out for a relationship, it means that he overlooked other ladies and chooses you over them. Giving you his time and attention or conversation is a level of trust some ladies seek from him but he denied them. What you are enjoying from him that looks so free, cost him his deliberate decision to reserve them just for you. The best way to be grateful to him is in you protecting him from being hurt deliberately. WHAT SOEVER YOU LOVE, YOU PROTECT. THERE IS NO WISDOM IN YOU EXPOSING HIS WEAKNESS AS A PROVE HE IS NOT GOOD ENOUGH FOR YOU. It is your duty to keep your man's mood in safety, and out of threat, discomfort through your choice of words, and attitude towards him.

The reason why you are dating is to understand each other and be useful to each other. Testing this man is totally out of the reason why you are dating. Turn your fears, worries and doubts into prayer points. Build up your Faith so you can be able to conquer any situation in case your fears show up. You are here to help this man. It will be a shame on you if you put this man on pressure and expose the weak side of him he is fighting by faith to conquer. Every man has an internal battle fighting daily. The pressure is much and the last thing he is expecting is stress from you.

Instead of testing this man, why not trust Jesus to help you to be able to love this man, the way that pleases God, either your fears becomes real or not. Testing this man is your public display that you don't trust the help of God. If you are afraid of anything about this man, seek for Gods help. Ask God for instructions of what to do about what you are afraid and Jesus will pull you through them. If you refuse to stand with him and fight with his internal struggles into victory, you won't enjoy the best God has reserved in him for you.

Stop testing this man and begin to fight for him in the place of prayer and wisdom.

The worst side of him you want to pull out through pressure from your side is the attack of the enemy against his own destiny. What you are pulling out through your test and stress are issues God wants to secretly deal with but you are exposing it. Exposing the worst side of him by mounting pressure on him just to see what he will do, is a service you are rendering for the devil. You are also joining the devil to become the accuser of brethren.

This man needs help because they are spiritual, mental, financial, social, and emotional battles he is going through in life. Instead of testing this man by hurting him to see what he will do, why not pray to God to deal with any aspect of his life that will stop him from loving you the way God wants him to love you.

The reason why many ladies are still singles and complaining about how wicked men are, even though we see people getting married every weekend is because of ignorance. The same fault in him you are afraid of is what God has brought you to help him overcome through Faith.

Before you become envious of any lady whose man is doing well, seek to know the price she is paying in praying, in patience and overlooking of faults in other for the weakness of her man to be strength. You won't get the kind of man you seek if you can't support and help a man to become that kind of man. There is a price to be paid because you must pay your dues in prayer, in being polite, in listening, and in honoring him unconditionally.

You are a lady and the first thing that is expected of you is to identify the kind of man you can support and help. This is not a ticket for you to settle for less all in the name of trusting God over the life of a man that is not even serious over his own life.

Don't test a man but be sensitive to recognize a man your own dreams can help and support. Every man that is not committed to his own life does not deserve your commitment. Any man that is not serious about his own dreams, life, and time does not in any way deserve your attention. Don't be proud but help a man that is already helping himself using his Faith in Christ Jesus to obtain victory daily.

You are supposed to be his lover and not his mother. The bible stated that the woman is a helper means she is only useful to a man that is already living a dream that needs support or help for more productivity.

In as much as you are not supposed to test a man, doesn't be his mother too.

There are things you must not help him in doing. Things like the discovery of His purpose, the understanding of his values, his priority, his dreams, and his direction in life according to the nature of his dream. It is his duty to discover and understand his calling, vision, and life assignment.

You are supposed to help him in growing and walking in what he has already discovered in his personal relationship with God. You are here to help him and support what you met him doing, learning and growing in Christ. He does not need your help if you didn't meet him doing something, learning something or growing in Faith. Know your boundary and don't become his mother by trying to figure out everything for him just because you love him. You are a helper and supporter; don't take the front seat of his life that is only reserved for him and the Holy Spirit.

You are a suitable helper but don't ignore your own dream just to help his own dream. Let your support to his dream be the extension of your own commitment to your own dream. If helping his dream won't help your own dream to have expression, be careful. If his dream won't create a platform to stretch and develop your own dream, keep off. A healthy relationship will naturally seek for the safety of the dreams of the two lovers in the relationship. Let's not forget the subject matter, testing your man will make him loose trust in you the day he discovers.

Trust me, some day or somehow he will notice it and will feel insulted that he was busy being committed to you while you were busy testing him. He will feel so insult that you were testing him while he was busy trusting you with his time, attention and listening ears. It breaks an intimacy time have built between you and your lover. It can become all most impossible to rebuild it. Even if it's rebuilt, it won't be as special as the one that was built naturally. Testing this person creates doubts and uncertainty in their hearts about you. It builds assumption and presumption the memory of how you tested him or her triggers.

It is so surprising how some men or ladies do not see anything wrong in testing a man or lady. Some feel it's healthy to do that to get to know their real nature. My question is, how have you appreciated and enjoy the strength in this person before you are trying to pull his or her weakness out? This is a trick the devil is using in order to use your own very hand to destroy what God has offered. Always remember the ministry of the devil; his plan is to kill the intimacy between you and your lover. His plan is to steal the trust you already have for your lover. His plan is to destroy the plan or opportunity of you and this person in using each other's dream to sustain each other.

Stop opening the door for the devil by testing this man or lady. Stop toiling with this person emotion to see their level of patience. Focus on becoming the best of yourself in Christ so as to be able to handle the worst in this person. There is no perfect man in attitude but there is one perfect man that befits the kind of dream and calling God has committed into your hands. Stop looking at this man or lady and keep looking unto Jesus, the author and finisher of your Faith. When you depend on your lover in things you should depend on Jesus only, you will frustrate yourself. Let Jesus be Lord in your life and let your lover be a lover in your life.

Every problem in relationship is a reflection the man or the lady is not obeying God's instruction. Before you even think of testing this man or lady, have you tested your own motive? Is your motive towards dating this person pure? Is it for the safety of your dream and his or her dream? Please, remove the speck in your eyes first before removing the plank in this person's eye.

Deal with your own insecurity and your past with God's Word first. Stop dragging this innocent man or lady into something only you and God should deal on. Stop allowing someone else to pay the price for own mistakes, carelessness and rebellion in the past. Most fears and doubts are triggered by the past you have failed to reconcile with completely. They are hidden wounds of your heart you have refused Jesus to heal you. There are mistakes you have refused to forgive yourself even though God has forgiven you. Stop testing this man and stop playing with this lady's emotion just to hide your own insecurity.

Let me write to the men. You don't have the right to play with the emotions of any lady. You must understand that you are not just dealing with a lady; you are dealing with God's daughter. God will not keep silent for every pain and tears you make her shade. You are the man and the original design is for you to dress and keep. In dressing and keeping, you will be able to love and nurture your lover. Don't even think it twice in dating or marrying a lady that won't listen to you or even value your ideas. If she has no respect for your vision and passion, she is not meant to be with you. You don't need to test or toil with her emotion to be sure of what she will display in future.

Give attention to what she gives attention to the most when she is around you. Evaluate the content of her conversation with you. Give attention to the kind of question she asks about you or about your work or vision. If her question is not tailored towards her understanding you, and relating with you as a suitable her to help you more productive, be careful.

You are in a relationship with this lady to understand her and add value to her according to the dimension of your dream. If she does not want to be corrected or told what to do when she is around you, it is a sign that you won't be able to accommodate her in a relationship and be fruitful.

You are not here to test her or toil with her emotion. Is either you need her or you don't need her. Is either you trust her or you don't trust her. If you are confused about anything regarding to her, ask question and engage her in a conversation that will make her feel secure enough to open up to you. Deal with your own fears, worries, doubt and your past with God's Word.

If your strength can't improve her, let her be. If the quality of your understanding about life is not commanding her respect naturally, don't force having a relationship with her. Walking through the street of friendship, you will be able to know the lady that can be a helper to you as you also improve her. Improving her is not something you impose on her. Every lady won't earn that right for you to improve their lives. The person that needs improvement is a lady that has defined her calling and is deliberately walking with the present knowledge she has. If she is not using her effort to learn, grow and prepare herself, how will you know where she needs improvement?

It's okay for you to embrace your design as the gender that improves but know your boundaries. You need to see the desire to grow and improve in a lady before you use your strength to help her improve. Identify what will be a threat to your own dream and also her dream. Bring it up as conversation and use the scriptures to set the balance. You are the man and it's your duty to make sure your lover is not stagnant in knowledge and growth.

You are not just a man to improve but it is expected of you to protect. Do your best to protect her from her own ignorance through the knowledge of the scriptures. Try and protect her from her own decisions, desires and expectations that do not align with God's Word. Use wisdom and don't force it on her. Let the growth of her hunger to learn and improve determine how you step in to improve her. Some time, if the Holy Spirit leads you into asking you to improve and protect her, obey. But you must never accommodate a lady that is too wise in her own eyes and your idea is useless to her.

As a lady, if this man is not seeing you as a priority, he does not deserve your support or help. If this lady is not respecting you, she does not deserve you using your capacity to improve her and protect her. Testing a man or lady is a game immature insecure youths and teenagers play. Grow up and rise to the place that is higher than testing or playing some ones emotions.

Focus on the reason for dating which is for the sustenance, growth and safety of your dreams. Relationship is a dream transaction. If it is not benefiting your dream or his/her dream, it is not needed.

Dreams or purpose is the necessity of dating, courtship or marriage. Dreams are all about the errors, that catches your curiosity of which you can use your capacity solve. Dreams are solution oriented and it is more of what God can use you to do for others. It is not about what others will do for you.

Stop this irresponsibility by testing a man or lady or toiling with some ones emotions. The relationship you desire, for the safety of your dream and the dream of your future spouse must be cultivated. It must be built deliberately by you and your lover. Instead of building the future both of you deserves through truthfulness, you are busy cheating yourself and wasting your precious time, testing and toiling some ones emotion.

By human nature, you are not good enough to have any man or lady. The relationship you are in now is a gift of God's mercy. Before seeking for the fault that won't qualify this man or lady to be with you, are you sure you are healthy enough for this person or his or her dream? If you understand the Mercy and Grace of God, testing and playing with some ones emotion won't be an option. Don't forget where God picked you from and how far He has brought you this far. Don't forget God's Mercy and begin to think if you even deserve what you have now.

The strength you have and you use it to test, and toil with some ones emotions was given to you by God as a gift. Why brag and despise other people with something you were given by God, even thou you didn't deserve it in the first place? The moment you begin to play with her emotions, you are already pushing God away from helping you. You as a man or lady must learn to trust in the Lord with all your heart, and don't depend on your own understanding. In all your decisions, desires and approach to relationship, submit and acknowledge God's principle, then the Lord will direct your part on what to do that won't test this person or toil with this person's emotions.

You can't just practice these Principles and gain Success if you ignore the HELP of Jesus, and the Holy Spirit. All these are revelation drawn from the Scriptures and if you must operate them and get the desired result, you must abide in Christ. If you are not in Christ, you cannot cultivate a Healthy Life and Relationship.
