Success is always possible for the traders who refuses to Give-up

If you are looking to become a more profitable forex trader, or if you are a beginner in need of guidance, then our review of the best forex robots will help you find the right one for you.

Forex robots use an algorithm to look for profitable trades. You can usually set them to trade automatically (within agreed parameters) or enter a trade manually.

To become an effective trader, you will need to be able to keep up with movements of the currency markets, world economics and news – as well as use historical knowledge and data to predict when the best time to enter and leave a trade will be

Using a forex robot automates this and takes the emotional bias out of trading. Some of the best robots operate with trade settings that can be as simple or complex as required, and take total control of the trade process, creating a passive income possibility from trading 24/7.

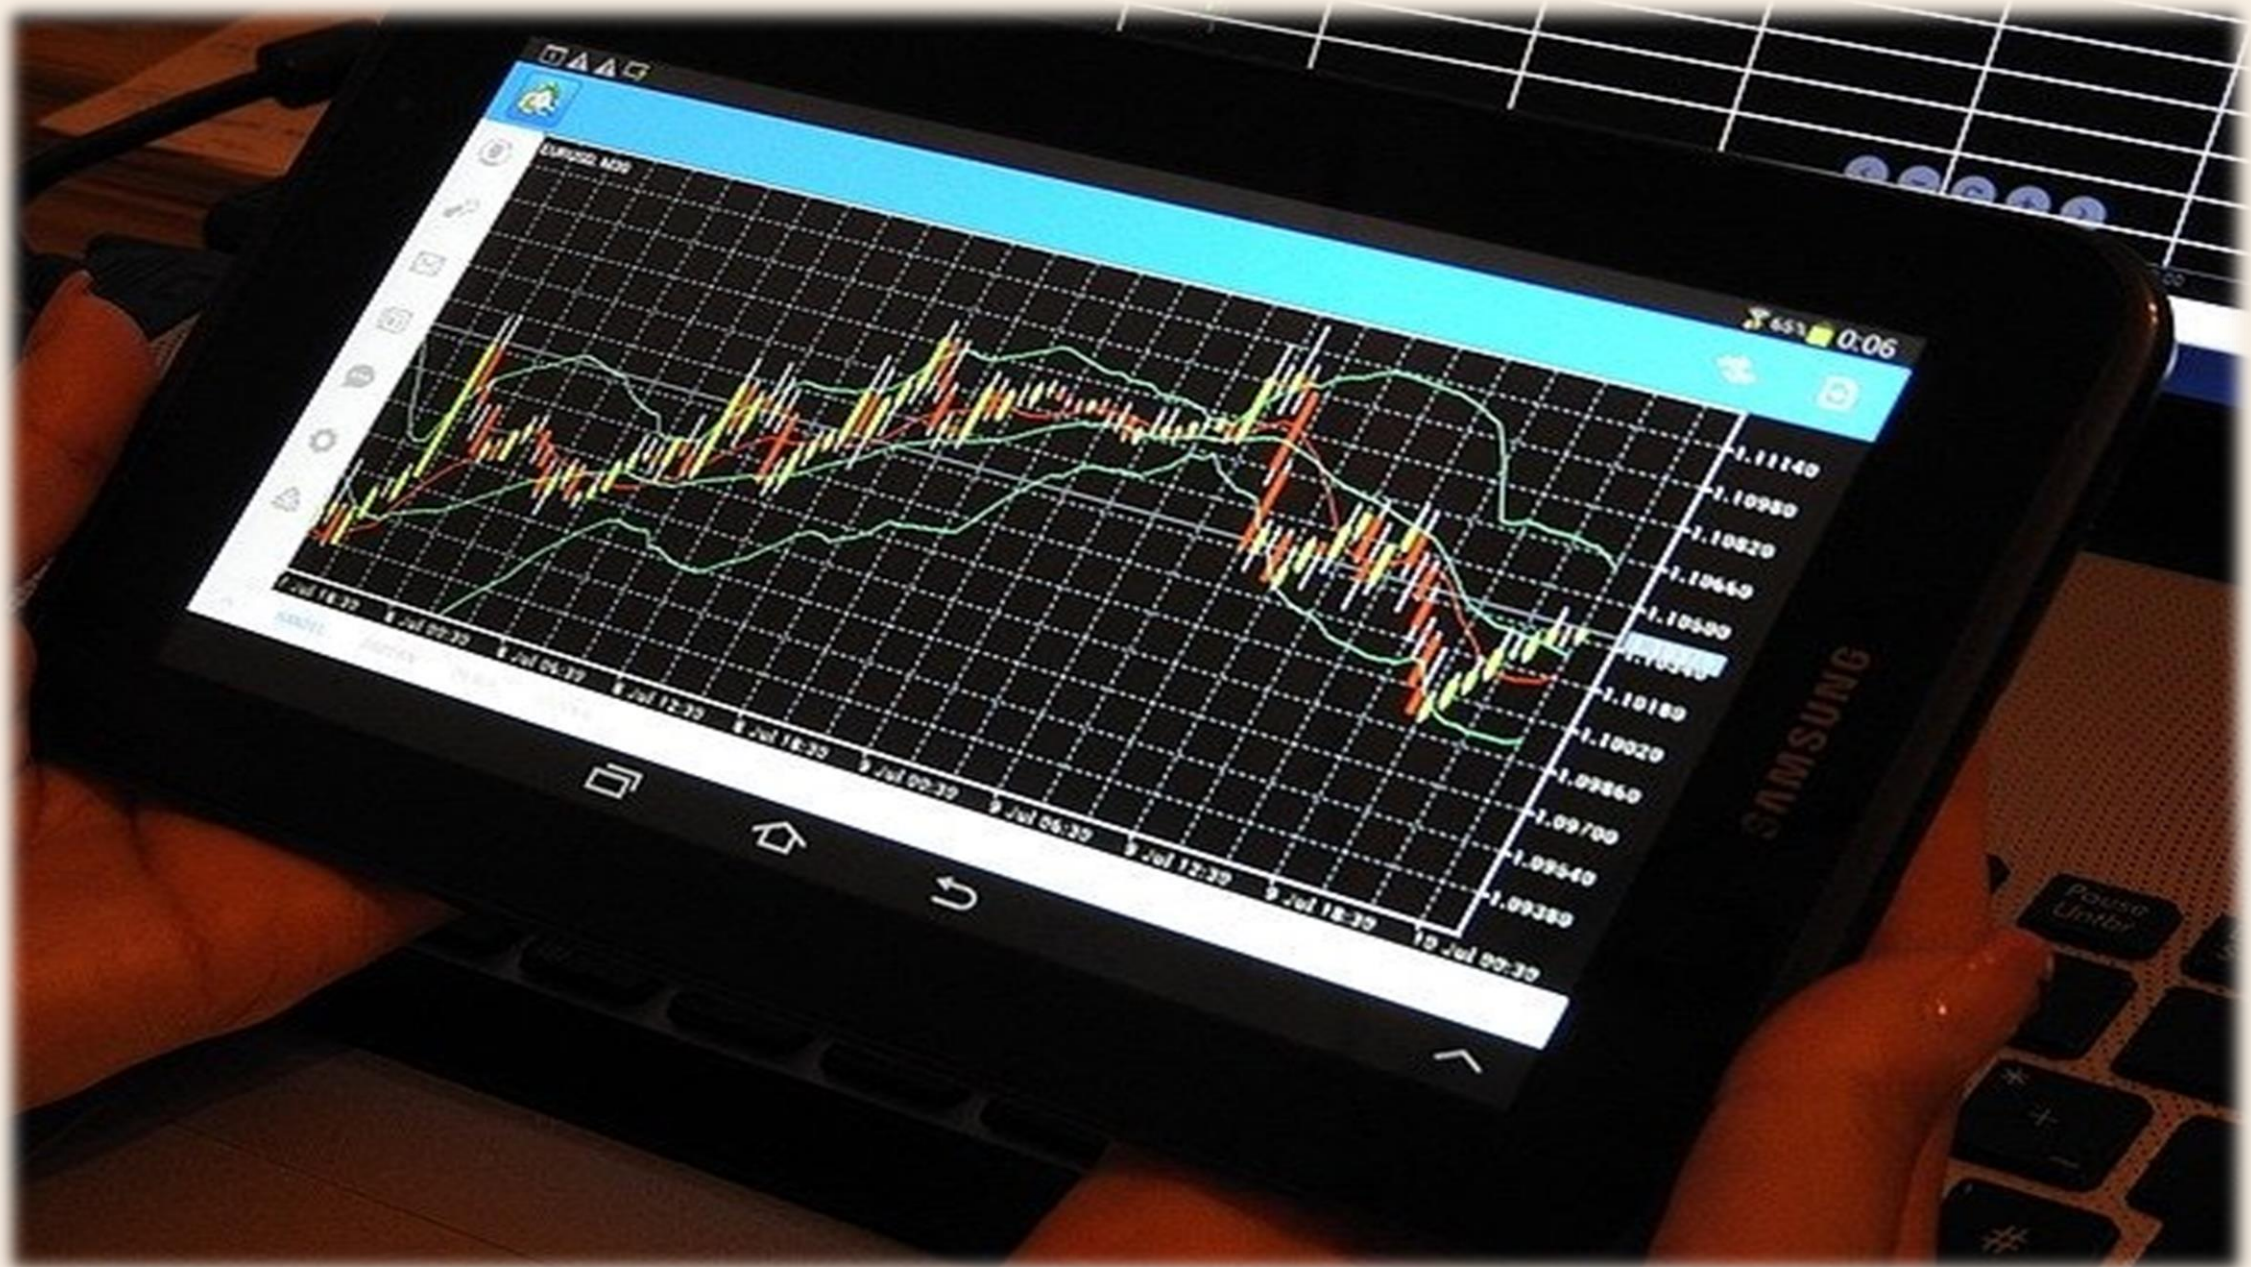

Forex robots do not need you to have extensive knowledge and experience of trading – most are ready to use from installation and offer everything from basic trading functionality to fully programmable settings – so even the most experienced trader can benefit from the automation involved.

Things to Consider When Choosing Your Forex Robot

- Look out for a low drawdown rate. This is a measure of decline and reduction of capital, and although high drawdowns can mean higher gains, they can also cause an account to go broke.
- The best robots are thoroughly tested, against real tick data, variable spreads and real slippage. This back-testing should be available for you to view before you purchase, and real-time data from third party sites like my fxbook can help inform you how the robot is performing today.

- Be wary of product reviews from unverified sources. The developers will only want to show positive reviews, and people who have lost money while using a particular robot will be likely to give it a bad review. Compare reviews from genuine users before investing.
- Use a demo account. Before deciding to use a robot, try it in a test environment first. This will allow you to see how it performs under test conditions – although, be aware that test conditions can not fully simulate a real trade situation. If the robot you are considering does not offer a demo or test version, it might be too risky to invest capital in it.

- Make sure that you remember all robots will require some supervision. System failures, problems with internet signal and catastrophic loss can happen, so although these robots are designed to work autonomously, you will have to intervene at some point.
The most important thing to remember when choosing a product is that there are no guarantees when it comes to gains from forex and cryptocurrency trading. Products that guarantee financial gains without any form of money-back guarantee should be avoided; many of the most popular robots offer at least 60 days trading and a full refund, which makes them seem less likely to be a scam.

Final Thoughts

There are hundreds of forex robots available today. They were developed using the latest technology to ensure that they can look for the most profitable trades, and are created to help both complete novices and experienced traders.

You don't need to have prior knowledge of forex trading to use these robots – with predefined settings, most can be operated with a simple start/stop button press. For the experienced trader, the robots with adjustable settings allow you to adopt a riskier strategy by adjusting the stop loss to take profit points.

When you are looking for a forex robot to automate your trades, it is worth deciding on a strategy that you prefer before selecting your forex robot. Different robots have different trading styles – and finding the one that will gain you the most while protecting your bottom line is sometimes difficult.

Whether you prefer the security of hedge trading – buying and selling during the same trade to protect your bottom line – or you are interested in a news-based strategy, there is a robot to suit you.

Forex robots can make it simple to trade when you lack experience or time, if you invest in the right product.

“Novice Traders trade 5 to 10 times too big. They are taking 5 to 10 percent risk, on a trade they should be taking 1 to 2 percent risk on.” - Bruce Kovner
