

HOW TO QUANTUM TIME-JUMP INTO THE HIGHER TIMELINE REALITIES

BY COSMIC LIGHT FORCE // TELEGRAM: @DRUE86

This is YOU. You are a quantum bio-electric supercomputer & a Lightbody spaceship vessel, with abilities to navigate through multidimensional spacetime realities.

This is your quantum reality. Your reality is only your physical reality in the present moment. Your reality is only what you can see, hear, smell & touch. Beyond these physical senses, all other realities are irrelevant or non-existent to you. Everything is consciousness. Water, air, fire, Earth, everything in the aether has consciousness — far beyond what most of us can comprehend. Your quantum reality is far more intelligent & holds more consciousness than you. Some may refer to this as The One Divine Source or God. However, you are also not separated from your quantum reality. You are a fractal of the whole reality. This intelligent quantum reality is YOU & you are part of this spacetime vacuum reality. Remember you are a supercomputer vessel & you have the ability to build a conscious relationship with your quantum reality, with The One Divine Source.

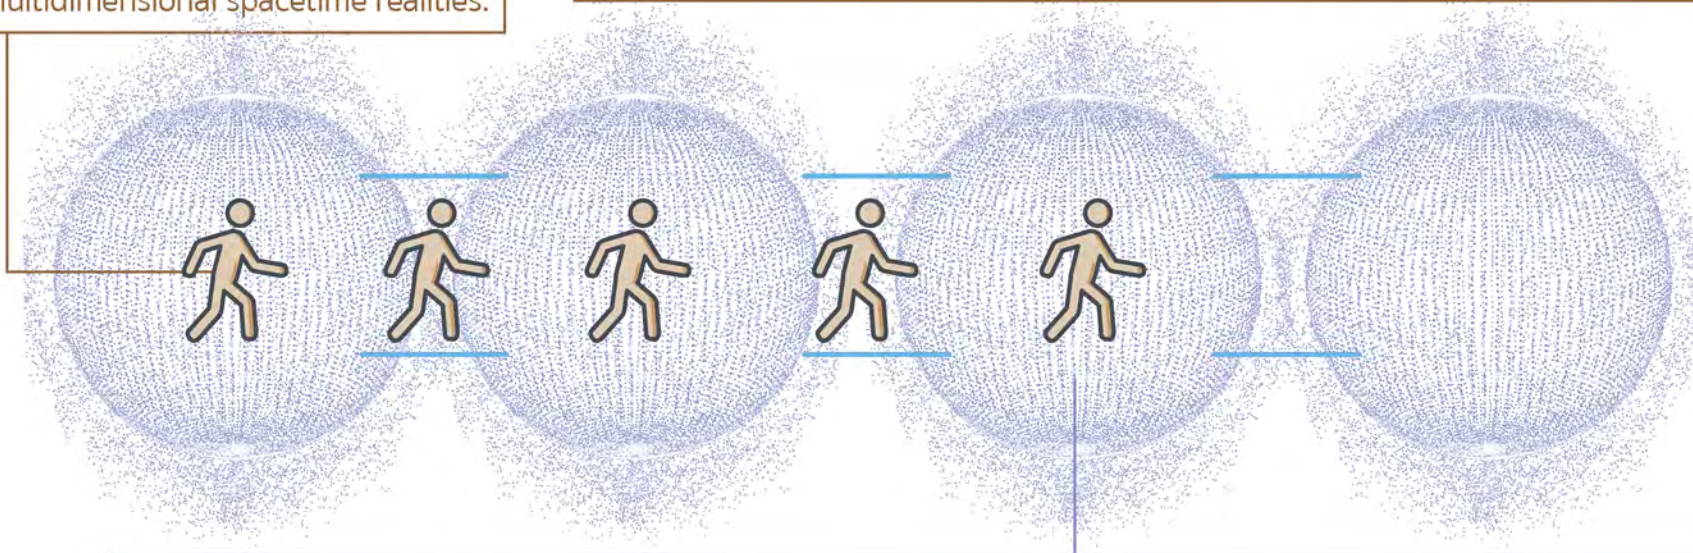

This is your portal. Your portal is a passage from one quantum reality to your next. Portals can be a doorway, hallway or basically any physical element that transitions you from one quantum reality to the next. For example, when you are taking a shower, you may have an intention of the water washing away tension, stress & any other lower energies that does not serve your human body vessel — as you walk out of the bathroom & into your bedroom, you have just walked from one physical reality to the next. The doorway from your bathroom to your bedroom is your portal. The next thing to realize is your intention when walking through this quantum portal. It is in this moment where you can intend to walk into your highest timeline, as you enter your next quantum reality. As you walk through the portal, your energetic signature (the energy you are currently carrying) will create the next set of physical manifestations to unfold in your next quantum reality.

This is YOU. You are a quantum bio-electric supercomputer & a Lightbody spaceship vessel, with abilities to navigate through multidimensional spacetime realities.

In order to best maneuver in the quantum realities, it is important to have a proper vessel. Like any mission, your vehicle must be equipped, fully charged, well-oiled & in good maintenance to carry out the operation. In a race, you must have a great race car to win the race. Your Lightbody-vessel must be in great condition — physically, energetically, emotionally, biologically, chemically, mentally & spiritually. This will allow your human avatar body to maneuver through the quantum timelines with efficiency & performance.

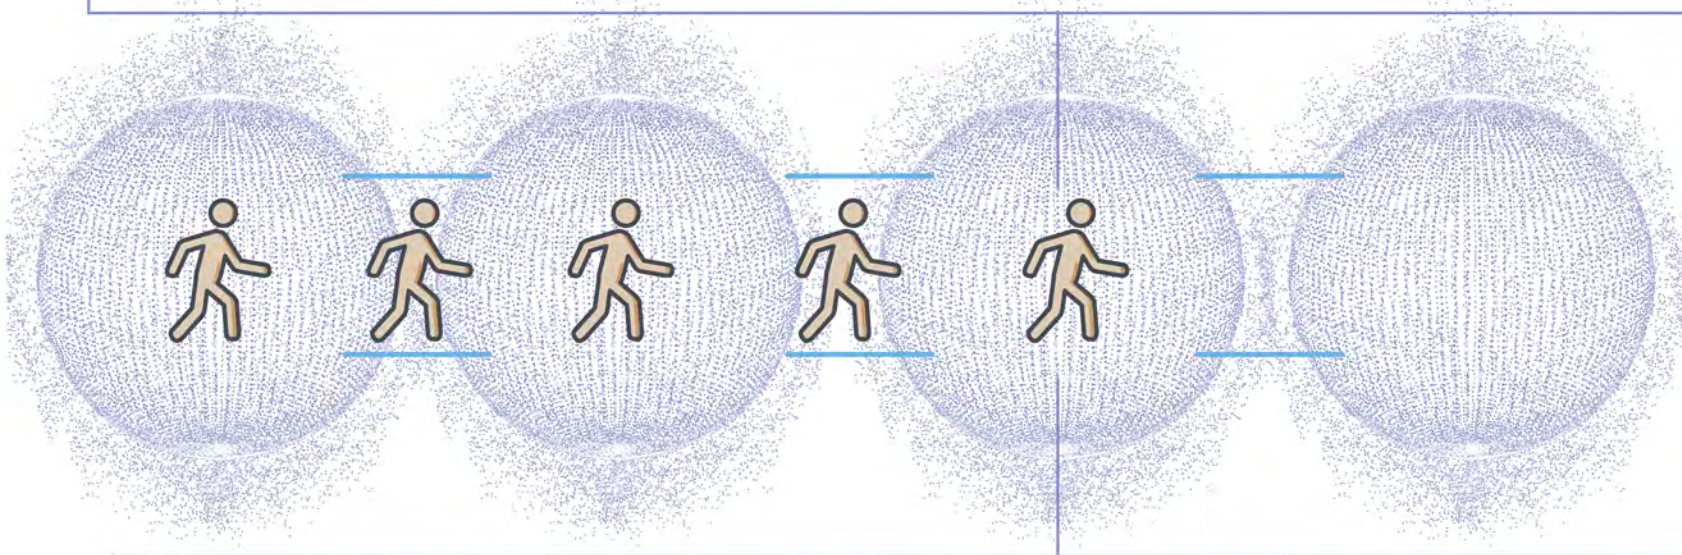

It is very important to understand that within your present quantum reality, you are aware of the energies within your spacetime vacuum. The physical manifestations unfold within present quantum reality are created by the previous energy, frequency, vibration, intention & attention of yourself. The combined energies of your previous state of being will determine & create the physical manifestations of your present quantum reality. In your current state of being, if you are in a state of fear, anger or any lower emotions, these energies will portal you into lower timelines, where the lower energies will create the physical manifestations of your next & future quantum realities. The same goes for being in a higher state of emotions. A higher energetic signature will elevate you into higher realms.

It is also important to be fully aware of the energy cords within your body-vessel, within your current quantum reality. A person can have an energetic cord attachment to a person, a thing or an event (in past or future). You can determine whether you have an energetic cord to something by the emotion that may or may not arise from the subject matter. For instance, if an ex-partner is mentioned or seen & the subject triggers a strong emotion (good or bad), then you should recognize that there is an energy cord between you & that person. This is the first step of awareness — to establish whether or not there's an energetic cord between you & person/thing/event.

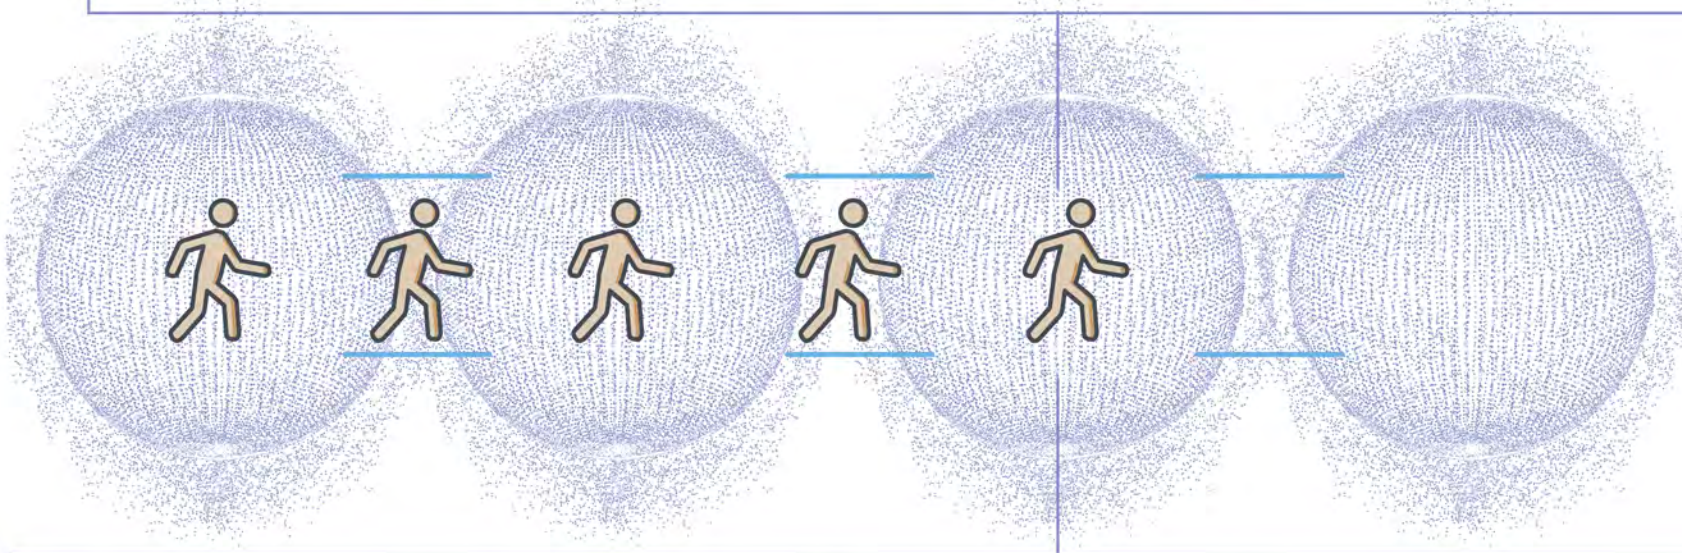

The second step is recognizing whether this energetic cord is siphoning your energy source or charging you. If the subject creates lower emotions within yourself, it is most likely siphoning energy from your body-vessel. This should be recognized quickly with actions to dissolve this energy cord as it is only depleting your Life Force Energy. If the subject is enhancing or charging your state of being, then this is a good energy cord & should be kept. When a person sits around in fear or anger about subjects that are outside of their quantum reality, they are basically giving their power & energy away to these subject matters. If a person is angry about situations in other countries or in fear about viruses, this person has an energetic cord to these subjects that are not truly relevant within their present quantum reality — which is only siphoning the person's energy source, leaving the person depleted while holding on to lower energies & as the person moves through the quantum portals, it will bring them into the lower timelines of lower experiences in physical creations & manifestations.

The third step is to be aware of how to always keep your body-vessel fully charged. Remember you & everything in your present quantum reality is connected & of the same consciousness — including all people, animals, things & events in your present quantum reality. There is no separation. This infinite intelligence will communicate to you through all elements within your present quantum reality & once you realize this fact, then you will also realize it has been communicating with you in your past quantum realities, but you didn't pick up the messages.

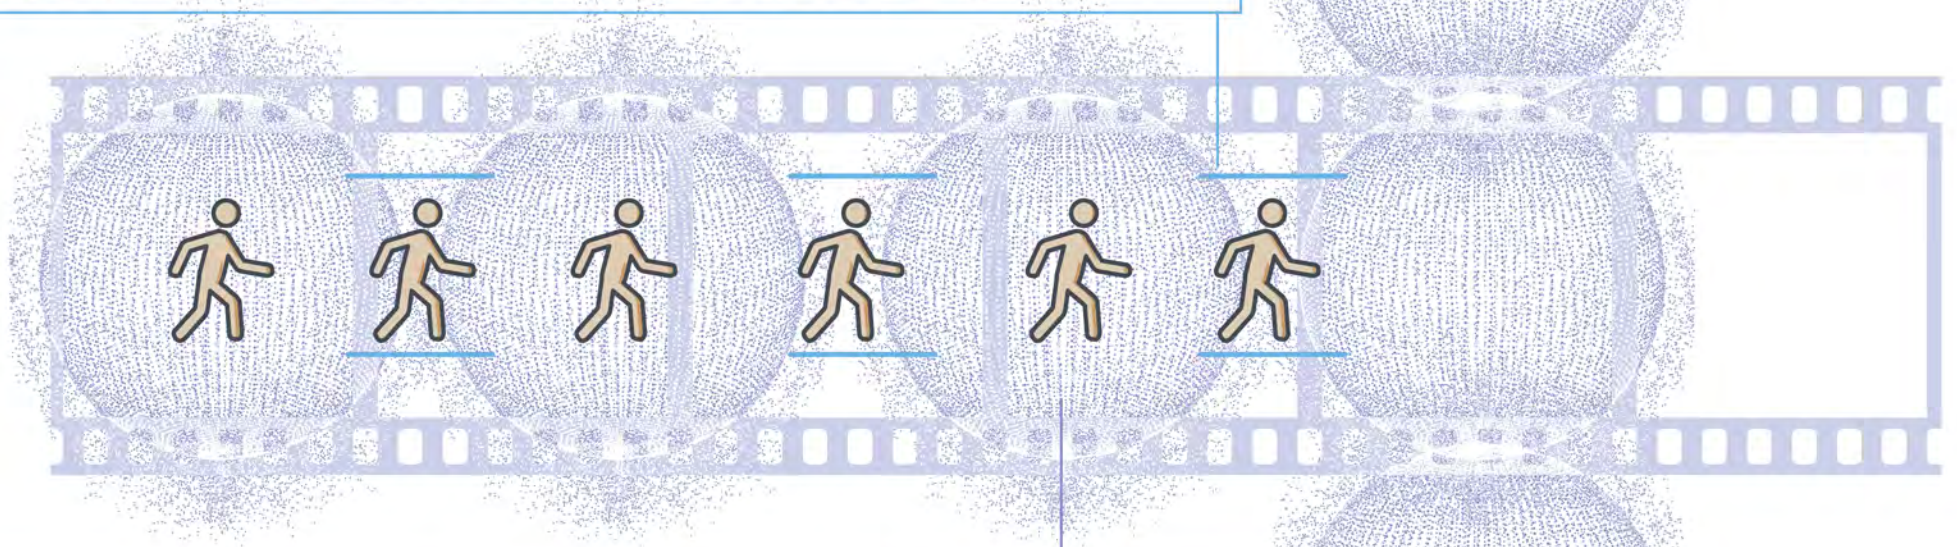

In the present moment, we are able to tap into this infinite intelligence & its inexhaustible energy source — many called this spacetime vacuum, Zero Point Energy. It is also known as Qi Energy, Prana & other names depending on the time period, geographical location & culture. Keeping your Lightbody vessel's gas tank on full is vital to maneuver the quantum timelines — just like a car, if you need to go from point A to point B, you will need a sufficient amount of energy to get there. Fueling your body requires detoxing negative thoughts, a lesser stream of all thoughts, removing unbeneficial energy cords, stress, lower emotions, heavy & dense energies, toxic chemicals & processed foods. Start meditating, be mindful, bring out your inner child energy, do the things you have passion in, hydrate your body with clean water, eat high vibrational, natural & organic foods & supplements, practice deep breathing, get exercise for the body, create a relationship with your quantum reality & just stay in a high vibrational state of being. Now you have a fully charged, well-oiled Lightbody vessel to drive into the higher realities & timelines.

In your present quantum reality, it would seem as if your previous realities created a linear timeline of your life — like a film strip of your previous life events. However, this would only appear this way but it is not. As you walk through your portal, in a fully charged body-vessel, with an intention of experiencing the highest timeline & pleasant physical creations & manifestations, within your new quantum reality, your energetic signature will magnetize into one physical reality of the unlimited potential quantum realities. It is only when you actually walk through the portal to the next quantum realm, the energies physically magnetize & you are now in the next present quantum reality.

We live in a multidimensional parallel universe. At any given moment, through the quantum portals, we can transport into different energetic realities & timelines, but only appearing to be the same physical reality we were just in. In the shower & bedroom portal experience, you can move through different timelines & experience different realities just within your own home. At the moment you walk through the portal, whether you are aware of it or not & by the energetic signature that is carried, this will determine the reality & its physical manifestations you will experience. It is always your energy & state of being that determines your outer experience.

Think of your next quantum reality as a spinning slot machine. This represents the infinite realities & timelines you can potentially experience. All these potential realities will appear to have the same physical characteristics of the reality as you know it, the only thing different would be the energy that you carried that will magnetize to a similar energetic resonance in the next quantum reality. The physical experience of you going to your job would appear the same, but if you carry a lower energetic signature with a tired body-vessel, you will portal into a lower timeline & experience a completely different set of physical manifestations than if you would carry a high energetic signature, with a fully charged body-vessel, along with the awareness & intention of experiencing desirable physical manifestations. The universe (your conscious quantum reality) will always conspire in your favor & in order to experience more desirable manifestations, you must recognize this awareness & supreme consciousness, then be in full gratitude for it — as the energy of gratitude will expand & create more of what you desire to experience.

When you become fully aware that there are quantum portals that lead into infinite realities for your potential experience, the awareness of your energy & consciousness, in your present moment, should magnify. It can become a slippery slope to slide down the lower timelines, experiencing undesirable manifestations which will create more lower energies & emotions in your auric field — which then portals you into even lower realities & timelines. This is what should be avoided. As above, so below — which means you can time-jump into the higher realities & timelines, by being fully aware of your energetic signature & portal points within your current quantum reality. The conscious quantum reality is conspiring for you, as you & as everything around you. This is part of your Higher-Self. It is the surrendering of the self-ego, knowing & trusting in your Higher-Self as part of the infinite intelligence & inexhaustible Divine Energy Source to guide you, created by the highest energies, to elevate your physical reality, for your greatest experience in the present moment of your quantum reality.

Everything in the physical may appear to be the same but it is not, for even the slightest change of energy will change the outcome of its physical manifestation & just like it is a different version of the quantum reality, you have also changed into a different energetic quantum being. This is how energy healing works. When the energy within the body-vessel is changed, for the higher, to become fully charged, then any or all ailments that existed in the previous quantum being now holds a different energetic signature, which will change its physical creations of the human avatar body-vessel. When the body-vessel vibrates at its highest state in gamma brainwaves, this elevates the quantum being into the higher timelines where the old manifestations created by old energies, can not exist in this new & higher version of the person. The dis-ease frequency can not exist in the new energetic version of You, in the higher quantum realities & timelines.

Now that you are aware of your infinite intelligent quantum reality & its portal points — with a fully charged Lightbody-vessel, you can maneuver into the higher realms & timelines for a better experience in this multidimensional realm. When you experiment with your quantum reality & its timelines, make sure you prepare your body-vessel for this operation.

Before going on a road trip, you would make sure the car is gassed up, tires are good, fluids are full & overall check on the engine. This should be the same protocols for your Lightbody-vessel. Experiment with your quantum reality & build a relationship with it. Consciously & intentionally jump into your higher timelines for two weeks & notice your subtle changes within yourself. Take notice of the physical manifestations that unfold as your reality. Be aware of the energies within your quantum reality. What is unfolding as your physical manifestations? Are they desirable or not? If it's not, what is your quantum reality communicating to you? What is the lesson that needs to be learned? You may understand how to drive a car but until you actually drive the car & drive it with experience, you are still a beginner or amateur in driving. Please be patient & take the time to learn how to drive your Lightbody-vessel. Once you get a hang of it, literally a whole new infinite potential of realities will open up to you & the experience of its physical manifestation will be beyond what you can dream of.

As you maneuver up or down the quantum realities & timelines, the awareness of your inner state of being will also affect everything else in your quantum reality. Once you change, for better or worse, this reflection will be seen & be evident within everyone else in your world. Whether the person is a close friend, family member or a relationship partner, once you change your quantum being, these people will also have changed or they will disappear from your reality — because once you change your quantum reality, everything in that quantum reality will also change. This also includes global events, things & people. The battle for a better world does not exist in the outer physical realm, the battle takes place within the quantum realities & its timelines. To experience a better relationship with those in your daily life, the inner energetic signature of your quantum being must reflect these changes into those around you. This is the same for the collective timeline — in order to see changes for the better in the world, this change must come from within. When more & more people reflect these inner changes within themselves, you will begin to elevate into the higher collective timelines & you will experience changes for the better within the collective reality.
