TEST CASE AGAINST CORPORATION

Question of Allocation of Revenue

A test case involving importar points in the financial adminis tration of Dundee Corporatio public slaughterhouses opene before Sheriff Malcolm in Dur dee to-day.

Pursuer is Peter Moyes, butcher, 18 Cleihorn Street, residing at 36 Ashbank Ros-Dundee, president of Dundee and Distri-Master Butchers' Association.

He complains that the proportion or openeral expenses of administration allocated and the public slaughter-house (£200) is excessive and that the action of the Corporation in carrying the number of the England on the alaughter of the revenue account to the credit of genera-police purposes revenue account is ultra

He maintains that this surplus another sample carried forward to the credit of next year's slaughter-house revenue account or applied towards the reduction of debth due by the undertaking.

Defenders maintain that they are not

Defenders maintain that they are no precluded by anything in any of their Act from carrying any surplus on their slaughter-house revenue account to the credit of their general police purposes revenue account.

Mr R. P. Morison, advocate, Edinburg instructed by Messra Hendry & Fento solicitors, represented pursuer.

Question of Accounting.

He contended that if the revenue of the laughterhouses would not meet the accounts, then an assessment must do at the content as a surplus the Corporation was arely justified in crediting it to the general police purposes fund and so keep general police purposes fund and so keep.

a coinscience demonstry out not obtain and count of the general police purposes rate. The markets and saughterhouses, on the other hand, had paid their way, and the surplus would help to keep down the general police rates.

Arr Mackintosh sain that the kernal of a connection between the slauphterhouses as connection between the slauphterhouses.

the whole question was the preservation of a connection between the slaughtehouse account and the rate fund. He main tained that the slaughtehouses account must not be hived off as a separat account and left to work out its own way. It was to pursuer's interest as a rate payer that the surplus on the slaughter houses account should be carried over to the credit of the general police purposes.

Are Morison said in reply that it was abundantly clear that, pursuer's title and interest to object to items in the Corporation account, was unassailable. The defence had based its plea on the submission that the slaughter-house accounts were part of the general police purposes accounts. That submission, Mr. Morison claimed, was not correct.
