An aerial photograph of a dense, lush green forest. The trees are packed closely together, creating a vibrant green canopy. A large, white, stylized graphic element, resembling a large letter 'B' or a similar shape, is overlaid on the image. The text 'Brand Elements' is centered within the white graphic.

Brand Elements

Logo

Our wordmark is modern, clean, and friendly. The straightforward typeface reflects the simplicity of our ingredients, while the custom rounded edges give it additional approachability.

Clear Space

Clear space is the padding around a logo to prevent nearby elements from causing distraction. The clear space around our wordmark is the height of the lowercase 'o'. No other graphic elements should come too close to it.

Sound

Logo

Vertical Use Case

The wordmark is set vertically on packaging to maximize its size, resulting in a prominent brand presence.

Placement

The wordmark should be optically centered within the negative space.

Motif

Our brand motif is inspired by the 'S' in Sound. It is a visual representation of a state of flow—a sense of fluidity between body and spirit. It is constructed from an organic but consistent grid. It conveys movement and balance, fluidity and fun.

Single Shape

In brand-centric moments, we use the motif as a single solid shape. See pages 9–10 for more information.

Divided Stripes

On packaging, we divide the motif into stripes, and apply a different color to each one to convey flavor notes and ingredients. See page 11 for more information.

Grid

Single Shape

Divided Stripes

Motif

Social Media

The motif should be used on our social media profile pictures. Rotate it by 90 degrees (to allude visually to the 'S' in 'Sound') and center it within the space.

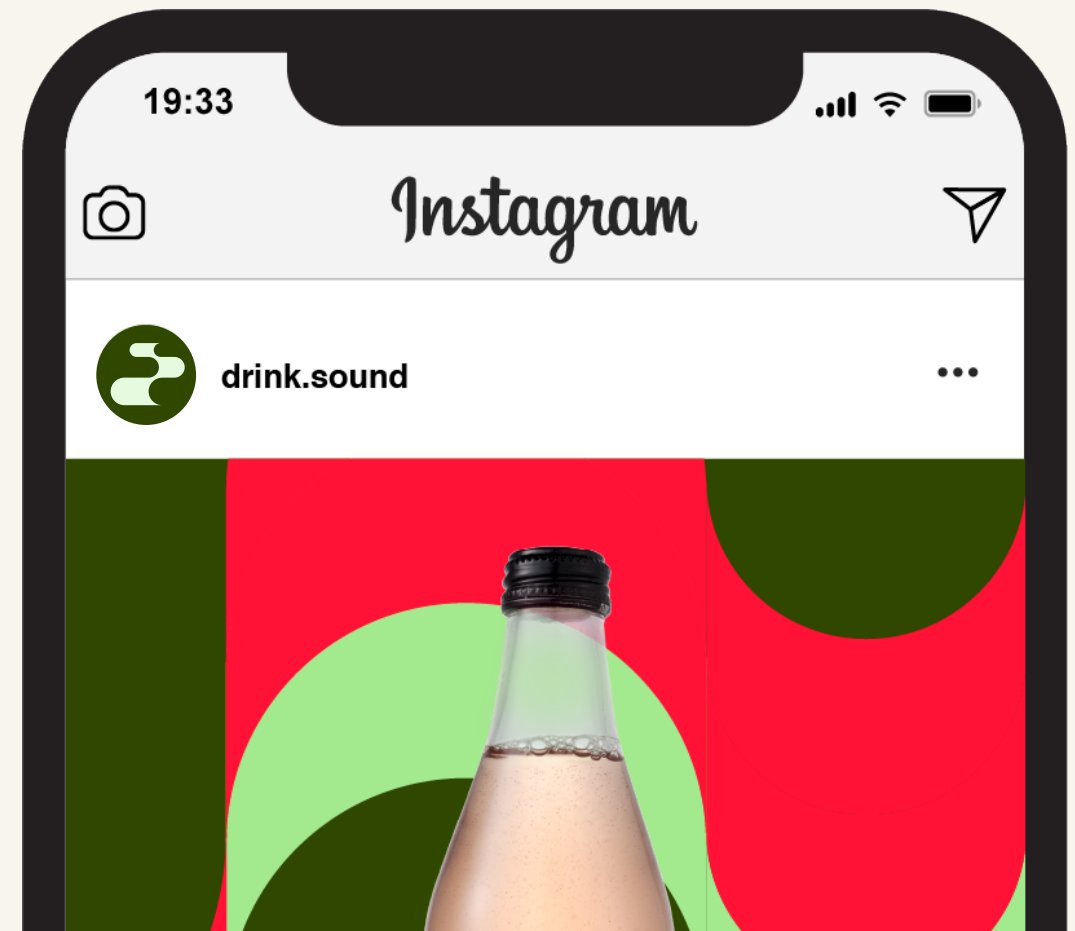

Color

Set the motif in Pastel Green against Dark Green (see page 18 for reference).

Instagram Icon

Example

Motif as Supergraphic

We can use the motif in bold and impactful ways to establish a unique and memorable brand presence.

Motif
Supergraphic

The motif can be combined with photography to create an ownable branded image.

The Rules

— The motif should be set in a color that contrasts against the photo.

— The motif may be used as a container or an overlay for the photo. Ensure that the subject matter of the photo is legible within the shape.

— The motif can live independently from the wordmark on Sound-branded channels, e.g. the Sound Instagram feed.

Motif Supergraphic

When we're telling a brand-forward story about Sound, we use the motif in its simplest form.

The Rules

— The motif should be set in a color that contrasts against the background.

— The motif should bleed off the edge of the canvas to create movement from one page or section to another.

— In instances when we crop in and out of the motif to create variety, ensure that there is still a sense of movement and continuity within the shape.

Motif
Supergraphic

When showcasing the product's flavors, divide the motif into stripes and apply a flavor color to each stripe.

The Rules

- The background should be set in Cream, Dark Green, or Pastel Green (see page 17 for reference).
- When the supergraphic is used as a backdrop for the packaging, match the colors of the stripes to the flavor being represented.

Don'ts

×

Don't stretch, rotate or manipulate the logo.

×

Don't use the logo for social icons, use the motif.

×

Our logo has been thoughtfully kerned. Don't re-create it by typing it out.

×

Don't use the vertical wordmark outside the packaging.

×

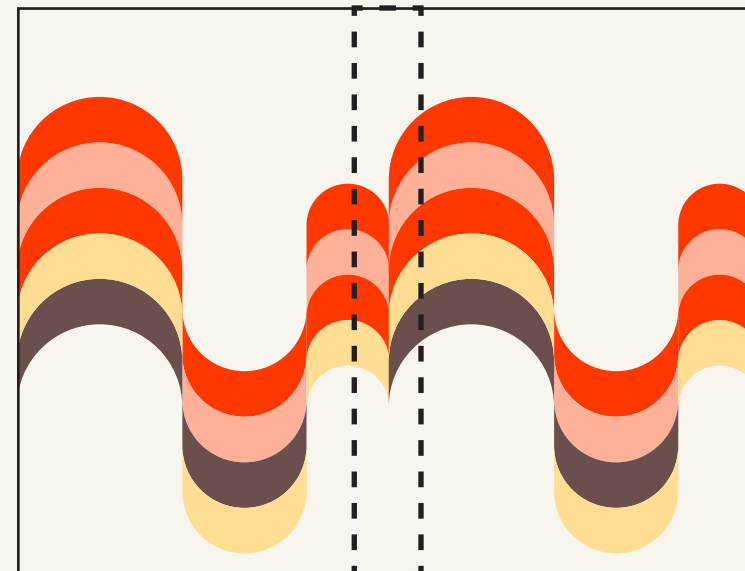

Don't lock up the logo with the motif in a position that is inconsistent with the packaging.

×

Don't change the shape of the motif.

×

Don't connect two motifs in a way that interrupts the natural flow of the pattern.

×

Don't start or end the motif in the middle of the canvas. It should always go edge-to-edge—from top to bottom or left to right.

Typography
Typeface

Raisonné, released by Colophon Foundry, is our brand typeface. Its letterforms are human and balanced, incorporating playful details while being clean and versatile.

The Rules

- Use the Bold weight in title case for headlines.
- Use the Demibold weight in sentence case for body copy.

Don'ts

Don't mix colors from two different flavor palettes in one single motif.

Don't construct a motif out of secondary flavor colors only. Always ensure that the primary flavor color is represented.

Don't set the motif in different opacities.

Don't apply gradients to the stripes.

Don't set the background stripes in different flavor colors than the front packaging.

Don't set type in a color that doesn't have enough contrast from the background.

Don't use colors from the flavor palette for Sound-branded moments. Use the primary brand colors instead.

Don't set type in black on the website. Set it in Dark Green or Pastel Green.

Color Exception

In moments when the expressiveness of the brand needs to be dialed up, e.g. when designing swag, colors from various flavors may be combined for maximum fun and impact.

Packaging Deconstruction Sparkling Water

This diagram is a breakdown of the components of the sparkling water design. It highlights the recommended information hierarchy and color strategy, and should be referred to when we're translating designs into mechanicals, and when creating new flavor SKUs.

General Rules

- All type should be left aligned.
- Blocks of text should always be centered within the available negative space.

Packaging Deconstruction Lineup

This lineup shows how our design system works across all products and showcases our overall color strategy. For sparkling water, we consistently use one base color across all flavors. For sparkling tea, we use a different base color per flavor.

Single Base Color

Multiple Base Colors

Ingredients

Fruits, botanicals, and herbs should be styled in a manner that highlights freshness, texture, and movement. This could range from dramatic close-ups to expressive shots that showcase flavor and variety.

Lifestyle

A Sound life is a spirited life. We always depict an uplifting way of seeing the world—whether it's about being immersed in nature, enjoying the first sip of a drink, or simply being yourself and taking in a moment. We love highlighting people who are dynamic, expressive and colorful.
