WILL MEMES SAVE NFTTEES?

YES THEY FUCKING WILL

In today's sluggish world, when bitcoin is on the ventilator and diamond hands have gone back to work, it may seem as though all hope is lost, but MEMES WILL SAVE NFTS. As a crack-headed hooligan once said, "I got an idea so smart that my head would explode if I began to know what I was talking about" ... however we gonna try to explain it. So, get ready for relief with memes so good that America might finally be great again. We are about to Meme it!

NFTS are about the experience, knowing that what you own belongs only to you. It's not like that $20 jacket at Walmart, something that exists in the thousands, no this is only yours and owning this will invite you to a whole other world of community building and experiences. You will be able to meet with people who have similar interests and interact with them in various ways.

Which is why we are providing an exclusive experience, every month we are going to Meme it! And provide meme magazines to everyone. If you are on the whitelist you will get the magazine before everyone else, another exclusive perk. With the price of bitcoin slowly digging its own grave we understand that this depressed community might need a breather, so competitions are going to be all the rage with a few hidden surprises along the way, it might just be a few ways to earn some cash. So we are gonna Meme it! To the point that your therapist will wonder what miracle fixed your brain.

We are throwing away the instructions aka fuck the road map, companies over promise and then fall short. In this community based organization we are giving the power to you, we both get to work on this together.

So join me a 38 year old Harvard drop out, half alien and half human wait.. thats Mark Zuckerberg. HODL because we are about to Meme it!

PEACE OUT...

DO PEOPLE STILL SAY THAT?
