

WELCOME TO THE FUTURE

"It's been long since we had a really kickass space opera"

-George R.R. Martin

Humanity has colonized the solar system - Mars, the Moon, the Asteroid Belt and beyond - but the stars are still out of our reach.

Jim Holden is XO of an ice miner making runs from the rings of Saturn to the mining stations of the Belt. When he and his crew stumble upon a derelict ship, the Scopuli, they find themselves in possession of a secret they never wanted. A secret that someone is willing to kill for - and kill on a scale unfathomable to Jim and his crew. War is brewing in the system unless he can find out who left the ship and why.

"An excellent space operatic debut in the grand tradition of Peter F. Hamilton"

-Charles Stross

Detective Miller is looking for a girl. One girl in a system of billions, but her parents have money and money talks. When the trail leads him to the Scopuli and rebel sympathizer Holden, he realizes that this girl may be the key to everything.

Holden and Miller must thread the needle between the Earth government, the Outer Planet revolutionaries, and secretive corporations - and the odds are against them. But out in the Belt, the rules are different, and one small ship can change the fate of the universe.

"Now the only problem is I have to wait another year to read the second installment in The Expanse series"

THE EXPANSE LEVIATHAN WAKES

James S. A. Corey

James S. A. Corey is the pen name used by collaborators Daniel Abraham and Ty Franck authors of the science fiction series The Expanse.

The first and last name are taken from Abraham's and Franck's middle names, respectively, and S. A. are the initials of Abraham's daughter. The name is also meant to emulate many of the space opera writers of the 1970s.

In Germany, their books are published under the name James Corey with the middle initials omitted.
