

Announcement of the Republican National Convention

From the desk of GOP Chief Whip u/IcyHelicopter

The Republican National Committee is pleased to announce the 2020 Republican National Convention. We are pleased to be nominating President Ninjjadragon to return to the White House, this time as a standard bearer of conservative change. In addition, we will be revealing our Vice Presidential candidate, and our various Congressional candidates to usher America into a new era.

The Republican National Convention will feature speeches from various key Republican figures. Warriors for patriotism and conservatism will be introduced to the American people, and Americanness shall be personified by this demonstration of Prosperity, Freedom, and Faith.

Attached to this statement is a schedule for the Republican National Convention. It shows our outline of a three-day festival of Prosperity, Freedom, and Faith.

The entirety of the Republican National Convention will be broadcast live on Fox News, and can also be accessed on r/RNCModelUS.

We sincerely hope that you tune in, and hear what our leaders of pragmatism and front-line warriors for American responsibility have to say.

In anticipation of a BETTER America,

/u/IcyHelicopter
