

Bill Clinton was born on 8/19/1946, a female Green Wooden Cow day in the autumn of Red Fire Dog year. After calculating the scores of Five Elements, the weight of Wood is 19, Fire is 47, Earth is 61, Metal is 116 and Water is 28. Therefore, the birth chart contains 7% Wood, 17% Fire, 23% Earth, 43% Metal and 10% Water.

Wood-type Person

Chinese astrology says this person is a Wood-Type person, because the DAY Stem in the birth chart is Wood. When the score of Wood is between 90 and 30, then the birth chart has healthy Wood. If the score of Wood is over 95, then the person has too much Wood. If the score of Wood is less than 25, then the person is lacking Wood.

Generally, the basic characteristics of a Wood-Type personality are honesty, tolerant, kind, benevolent, noble, unsullied, rational and has a sense of righteousness.

The person lacking Wood tends to be indifferent, cold, heartless, spiritless, jealous, suspicious and scheming. But the person will turn to the good side of the Wood personality, when Wood appears in the Major Cycles or Yearly Cycles.

When the DAY Stem is Yin Wood, the person is like a tender, aromatic, fragile and pretty grass or flower. The good side of the Yin Wood personality is warm, quiet, docile, steadfast, intellectual, endurable, respectful and peaceful. The person often is supple outside and tough inside. The Yin Wood person with the opposite side of this personality is passive, biased, arrogant, stubborn, egoistic, jealous, satirizing and has a lack of initiative. Also, the person tends to pinch pennies and is good at calculating advantages.

Wood-type people are kind, steady, sympathy-sharing, understanding and gentle. They like to help people and make donations.

The essence of Wood is a tree. The force inside the tree is like growing upward to the sky. Trees often compete with each other aggressively when growing up. Because of the characteristics of trees, Wood-type people are steadfast, organized, logical, practical, innovative, unique, assertive, fortitudinous, independent, challenging and direct. They like to plan things, take action, and go on adventures and challenges. They are perfectionists who tend to push themselves to the limit and seek out the best, and take first place in competition.

When their ambition and optimism is overwhelming, Wood-types can become upset, nervous, unstable, impatient, intolerant, and lose their humor by the frustration of many obstacles.

People lacking Wood essentially are weak in their opinions. They lack the determination to change their options when situations change. They are likely to be jealous when they don't have a strong viewpoint of their own.

People with excess Wood are often inflexible, prejudiced and biased. They tend not to accept or absorb others' opinions.

Metal-Type Personality

Because this birth chart has 43% Metal, we can say this person is a Wood-type person with Metal-type personality.

Generally speaking, the instinct of a Metal-Type personality is righteous, steady, staid, bold, brave and resolute.

The person with excess Metal sometimes has an unkind, unrighteous, ruthless, tyrannical, indulgent, intemperate, mordant and harsh personality. This means the person will have this kind of personality once in a while.

Metal-type people are righteous, faithful, gallant and chivalrous. They like to know and help people.

Metal is the substance in which internal particles squeeze and condense together. There is a force from the outside to the inside that keeps Metal hard. Metal reflects light, so it is shiny. It may have a clear sound when it's hit. Therefore, a Metal-type person has great strength, discipline and enough courage to aid needy people, which may make them famous.

Metal people are brave, disciplined, trained, organized, authoritative, determinative, routine, firm, resolute and have an urge to win. They have a large sense of honor. They like to spread their fame. They are sensitive in grief and sadness.

People that lack Metal are quiet, cautious and nervous. They tend to think too much, and cannot make quick decisions. They do not express what is on their minds in public, but will complain about something afterwards.

People with excess Metal are often unkind and destructive. They are brave but may have no resourcefulness and no intelligence. They have little grace and no mercy. They do not keep secrets.

Score

Additionally, since the score of Wood is 19 and the score of Water is 28, then this person is gentle, kind, friendly and self-reliant person. He is flexible and reasonable to judge anything.

Pie Chart

The Pie Chart is for searching any significant personality change during a certain period. Usually, we just look for any size increase for the smaller element sector.

For example, if the proportion of Green Wood sector in the Pie Chart is increased, then the person will treat people nicer at that period.

This is the Birth Chart of Clinton, Bill (19/8/1946). Wood was born in the Monkey month. The Companion and Parent Stars, Wood and Water, look much weaker than others in the birth chart. ### Five Element Chart (Year 2001 – 2050)

The higher the score for that year, the more beneficial it is

Bill Clinton was born on 8/19/1946, a female Green Cow day in the year of Red Fire Dog. The adjusted Five Element scores are Wood 19, Fire 59, Earth 68, Metal 130 and Water 73. The female Wood was born in the Monkey month. This Birth Chart has too less Wood. It's called a Weak Wood type Birth Chart. The lucky element is Wood and the second lucky element is Water.

Each lucky element has Yin and Yang. Yin is female and Yang is Male. Therefore, Male Wood and Female Wood are lucky elements. Rabbit, Tiger and Pig are lucky animals. Female Water, Male Water and Female Metal are next lucky elements. Rat, Cow, Snake and Monkey are next lucky animals.

Analysis

Male Wood is a Lucky Element. Male Metal is found in the Birth Chart. Male Wood doesn't get along well with Male Metal. Therefore, Male Wood won't bring you 100% luck. Luckily, Male Fire is in the Birth Chart too. The Male Fire can weaken the power of Male Metal. Male Metal shouldn't give too much trouble to Wood. Female Wood is a Lucky Element. Male Metal is found in the Birth Chart. When Female Wood and Male Metal are together, the ingredient of Wood in the female Wood will turn into Metal. Therefore, Female Wood won't bring him real luck.

Rabbit is a lucky animal. Tiger is a lucky animal, but Monkey is found in the Birth Chart. Because Tiger and Monkey don't get along too well, so Tiger won't bring him full luck. Pig contains some ingredient of Wood and will give him some luck.

Male Water is a Lucky Element. However, Male Water doesn't get along well with Male Fire. Male Fire is found in the Birth Chart. Therefore, Male Water won't bring him 100% luck. Luckily, Male Metal is in the Birth Chart too. Male Metal can weaken the force of Male Fire. Hopefully, Male Fire won't give him too much trouble. Female Water is a Lucky Element. He will gain some luck, if Female Metal shows in the Major Cycle or Yearly Cycle. This is because Female Metal and Male Fire in the Birth Chart together will generate some ingredient of Water.

Rat is a lucky animal, but Cow is found in the Birth Chart. Because Cow and Rat are together, a hidden Earth ingredient is generated. So Rat won't bring him full luck. Pig is a lucky animal. He will gain some luck, if Snake shows in the Major Cycle or Yearly Cycle. This is because Snake and Monkey in the Birth Chart together will contain some ingredient of Water. He will be very lucky, when Rat shows in the Major Cycle or Yearly Cycle. This is because Monkey, Rat and Dragon are together will generate a strong force of Water. Cow contains some ingredient of Water and will bring him some luck. Monkey contains a little ingredient of Water and will bring him a little luck.
