

Minecraft Mod Lets you Relive Classic Harry Potter Games

Minecraft and magic have come together a few times recently. minecraft servers The most notable of those magical mashups is Spellcraft, a free DLC that includes over 20,000 different spells and new ways to utilize the spells. However, the fan-made EpicSpellsPlugin is definitely worth keeping an eye on too.

We posted about this plugin in May it was quite impressive at the time, but development appears to be moving at a rapid speed since the time we wrote about it. Morica_ from Reddit explained in a post that they have added the ability to cast spells with no commands. It's just a matter of rename a stick "Magic Wand" and then sneak away to draw symbols in the air.

The video shows a few spells and how you can connect them to various actions. It's a very esoteric feeling. This is precisely the feel that magic should aim for. Morica_ discusses a few more features in the comments, but the one that stands out is the one Morica_ refers to.

Morica_ replied "Yes!" when asked about the possibility of creating custom spells. Even though this is unlikely to happen in the next few months it is something I really want. I also code spells so that they can be used using pre-made items." This basically means that spells can be modified by using items already in the game. This could be the most effective way to experience Hogwarts Legacy, without having to buy the game.