

Light in the box reviews - Is Lightinthebox.com Reliable to Buy from?

The Lightinthebox webpage is a worldwide retail store that specializes in a couple of major categories: clothes, small home equipment, home decorating, and different gadgets. Verifying the Light in the box reviews (visit the ChinaSafeImport portal to do it), you may find out that it's best renowned for its customizable wedding event garments and evening dress.

This online store decoys buyers who really think that they'll buy the wedding ceremony dress of their dreams at a small percentage of the worth of normal dealers. In addition to this, the customizable options of the online site indicate they won't need to pay money for custom made tailoring.

Nonetheless, for every pleased new bride who receives her pretty white wedding gown, there is a different opinion which shows a different story.

On relatively cheap things, such as dresses, this may not be as much of a worry.

But, if you are considering using Light in the box for bigger orders, for instance house appliances or electronics, the Lightinthebox reviews (called as a "Light in the box hoax" or a "Light in the box rip off") on online forums would suggest that you need to think again.

On the internet they're renowned opinion portals which have large quantities of buyer comments concerning Lightinthebox. Below are the net sites with the reviews which we found:

Trustpilot

Out of 14392 comments on Trustpilot, Light in the box has a general result of 4 out of 5.

About 65 percentage of those people who posted ratings issued the online retailer a full Five stars, and approx 16 % rated their shopping experience with one star.

Generally, it is an overall really good end result, particularly when considering assessments on the Trustpilot portal about comparable net sites, such as AliExpress.com or Tomtop.

Light in the box review on ConsumerAffairs.com

On ConsumerAffairs.com, Lightinthebox.com has the totally different outcome than on other opinion internet pages, for the reason that there are 648 comments and an overall rate is one star.

Most comments concerning Lightinthebox expressed dissatisfaction with prolonged delivery time and as well as incomprehension with sizes, nearly all of them came from clients who'd purchased shoes.

SiteJabber.com

SiteJabber's issued Light in the box marks very similar to those found on the Trustpilot internet site.

Based on 3850 assessments collected, Light in the box wound up with a result of four stars, with approx 60 % of its assessments was evaluated at 5 stars.

While there're a large amount of discontented clients if you browse any website containing Lightinthebox review, you will also see lots of people who were totally happy with their deals and the customer support.

In general, many of the buyers who were happy with their deals appeared to be ordering small wares: various sorts of attire, wigs, fashion accessories or small electronics.

We've determined that the more expensive wares have much more unfavourable opinions, a fact that internet buyers must take into account.

Light in the box hoax comments are accessible on forums and discussion boards where people write that they've never received their wares. Often, those Lightinthebox reviews are made a too fastly.

When we answered the query, "What's the Lightinthebox.com store?" we discussed that this store is headquartered in Beijing.

That's why a lot of its products ship from overseas, and shipment times are not really the quickest. Also the processing time can be long.

How Does Shipment Work? Light in the box reviews regarding delivery service

Some products process in only a day, but the rest can span from three days to a more than fifteen days before they leave the magazine.

A primary claim is the too long the shipping times, detailed below:

Mail Service-Tracking

Merchandise sent by this method can make it to the United States Of America in 10-20 days from the time it departs the storehouse. Within the high season, this delivery time is lengthened to 15-30 business days.

Verify a calendar, that means that it could be about six weeks (counting weekends) before your products arrive.

Our own Lightinthebox Review Concerning Postal Expedited

Choosing this option will unquestionably speed up the shipment process, reducing your wait time down to 5-8 days. It brings it to approximately an 1 week wait, even within the high season time. It's faster.

Express Quick Shipment

For buyers who expect their items as fast as possible, it is the most excellent shipping solution to take into account. With Quick Delivery, worldwide shipment is reduced to 3-5 business days.

We cannot find any information regarding specific pricing for each delivery method, however the firm does state that shipment will depend both on the weight of the item and moreover the delivery length of time as Lightinthebox reviews shows.

When considering the basic Mail Tracking Service shipping option, the longest wait is lower than 9 weeks for an item to come after placing an order.

This is a very long time to have to wait and worry whether you have become a sufferer of the Light in the box fraud, or if it's a normal shipment time for a packet received from abroad.

It's the right amount of time to ask the very serious question, "Is Lightinthebox.com trustworthy?" after awaiting that long for a probably not cheap bundle and posting unfavourable Lightinthebox review.

Earlier than believing that you have get duped by a Lightinthebox rip-off, be sure that you have awaited the complete 45 business days that your product can take to make it to your house.

Later contact client support to determine if they can provide different kind of additional tracking details or data affirming the dispatch for your package that proves that it is arriving to your home.

Summary: Is the Light in the box site trustworthy? Why some Lightinthebox reviews are unfavorable?

When we've meticulously responded to the question, "What is Lightinthebox?" it is a moment to ask the genuine question: Is Lightinthebox.com safe to purchase from for my everyday online shopping wants?

Despite the fact that comments seem to be favorable overall, we're on this site to answer if there may be a Light in the box swindle.

Ordering on Lightinthebox is a perfect method to get discounted rates on a tailor made wedding gown or to score a few products you want in large quantities.

General, is Lightinthebox secure? It has a lot of risk-free payment possible choices which will indicate that it is not a scam site.

Light in the box reviews indicate that you might want to try two or three inexpensive products at first to check out if you're really pleased with the client service and delivery times earlier than you're beginning to buy larger goods.