

The Old Xoblob Shop

A cloud of lavender-scented purple smoke trails out of the shop's door as you peer inside. Every wall is painted purple, and every dusty knickknack on the shelves is dyed a deep violet. The hairless old gnome sitting cross-legged on the counter wears plum coloured robes. His cheeks are decorated with nine face-painted eyes. The gnome lowers a pipe and exhales a cloud of lavender smoke before raising a hand. "Hail and well met! Come browse the shelves of the most curious curiosity shop in the world!"

The deep gnome is Snidgir, an informant for Xanathar. He sells a variety of odd trinkets, all sharing a common theme; everything in the shop is coloured purple in some way.
