tioning the object he had in view. After a sitting of many years, Mr Macdonald's friend secured a copy of the letter read in the latter end of the meeting. It is a very interesting document, and pointing out the manner in which he wished his money to be appropriated. He directed that the £1,000 should be laid out in building a school for the poor children in the town of Skye, and that Mr Macdonald should be desired to see to the execution of the plan. Mr Macdonald has since been a gentleman in Skye, and has received a letter from the trustees of the school, stating that the sum of £1,000 has been received for the purpose of establishing another school in Skye, and publicly can be given to such disinterested interests as please.

SCOTTISH LECTURERS.—We are glad to understand that Mr Dickinson who has been lecturing for some time past on Chemistry in the Royal Academy of Sciences has been appointed by a majority of the students attending the course, to extend the course, by adding a few lectures to be given by him. It is said that he is a man who has great success in this as it should be, and is likewise credible to the lecturer and his audience. His lectures heretofore have been attended by numerous and highly sensible auditors; our opinion of Mr Dickinson as a lecturer has already been expressed in terms of high appreciation.

fact, the season several weeks ago, the vessel was about the same time, and was blown to sea, and the cargo destroyed. A few days since
