ABOUT THE PROGRAM

The Teens Leadership Program (TLP) is a leadership and skills development program for school-going teenagers between the ages of 15 - 19 years old. The TLP is anchored on the belief that teenagers should not wait for a later time in life before they can be equipped for leadership and soft skills - teenage life is a crucial stage in one's personal development and instead of allowing social media to mold them, TLP seeks to be the pillar that builds teenagers into leaders. Overall, TLP aims to transform school-going teenagers into confident, innovative, and solution-driven leaders who can make a positive impact in their lives and society at large. The TLP is a program implemented by the BeRelevant Leadership Academy under the auspice of BeRelevant Afrika.

PRIMARY OBJECTIVE & VALUE PROPOSITION

Primary Objective of TLP

The primary objective of the Teens Leadership Program (TLP) is to develop leadership skills among school-going teenagers aged 15–19. Through interactive workshops, activities, and practical exercises, the PROGRAM aims to cultivate key leadership qualities such as effective communication, decision-making, problem-solving, teamwork, and adaptability. The goal is to empower participants with the necessary skills to take on leadership roles both within their academic environment and in their future endeavors.

Value Proposition

Overall, the Teens Leadership Program (TLP) offers a unique value proposition by focusing on the leadership and skills development of school-going teenagers at a critical stage in their lives. By providing relevant, holistic, and solution-driven training, TLP empowers teenagers to become confident, skilled, and impactful leaders, making a positive difference in their lives and society.
