

Starting

Shotgun contest on porch (JFK-FDR). First to finish is President, second is VP, the rest follow. President then hands players their first drinks upon entering the house (Ellis Island) and gives them a new name. President takes first turn.

True American

Version 2

Gameplay

Players may progress by winning games. As a rule of thumb if the game has 1 winner, the winner may move forward 2 spaces, if the game has multiple winners, the winners may move forward one space. Turns move clockwise, and you run a game on your turn. The president may add any new rule at any time. You may become president only by passing the current president, or if you are the VP (first behind president) when the president loses, quits, or is impeached. Players may only take drinks from the table at the 4 designated spots. Players may only carry 3 drinks at a time. The crazy zone allows players to leave the game board, but the floor of the crazy zone is still lava. The president may be impeached after creating an awful rule the turn AFTER it takes effect by a majority vote (VPs vote deciding ties)

*Everything you hear in True American is a lie.

Winning

After all the drinks but the king have been removed from the table, the first player to finish any drinks they may be holding and drink from the king will be crowned the True American.

Losing

If you touch the lava anywhere, you lose. If you break any rule (outside of the crazy zone) you lose. If you are caught without a drink in your hand, you lose. If you are caught carrying more than 3 drinks, you lose. To rejoin the game after losing, you must drink a new drink under the table, then take the space behind the player in last.

Constitution

A paper Constitution will be placed on the table, that the presidents will alter to keep record of which rules are and aren't in play.

Game Ideas p1

- Teams– Everyone must put their hand to their head with a number of fingers up. You are now on a team with whoever shares your number and drink when the other drinks. If you are the only one holding your number, advance 2 spaces.
- Categories– Name two things, the first player who names something these things have in common that you find acceptable advances.
- Quote– Begin a famous (ideally patriotic) quote. The first player to finish it correctly advances.
- Nose Goes– First to get it advances, last drinks
- Trivia– Answer correctly, advance. Answer wrong, drink. If the question was too obscure asker drinks.

Game Ideas v2

- Guessing- Toss a coin, draw a card, or something impartial. Players guess (heads/tail, red/black, anything with 50/50 odds) Winners advance, losers drink.
- Existing Game- All (or most) players will play a round of a short existing game, such as Blackjack or cooking mama on wii. Whatever the game, winner(s) advance, loser(s) drink.
- Challenge- The player leading the game challenges another specific player to a contest. This can be anything from a dance off to a drinking contest to a board game. Either the player issuing the challenge chooses the contest, then the player being challenged chooses the stakes, or the player issuing the challenge chooses the stakes, then the player being challenged chooses the contest. If either party declines the challenge they drink and the other party advances unless everyone agrees the challenge was terrible. 2v2 or 3v3 challenges are also acceptable.

Clinton Rules

- Half in the lead pick their interns from the losing half
- When you drink, your intern drinks, and vice versa.
- If you pass or share a space with your intern, you each lose an article of clothing at that spot.
- You did NOT have sexual relations with that woman.

Trump Rules

- When passing the Crazy Zone or Start Zone, players must use whatever they have at their disposal to contribute to building a wall in front of the door or hallway.
- Lava is fake science. You can walk on hot lava. You're the best at walking on lava. Everyone says so.

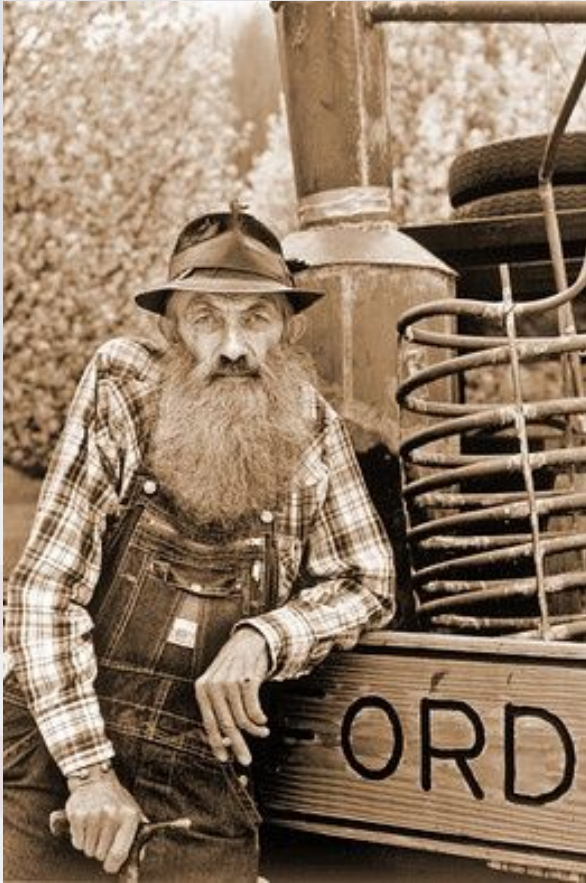

Taft Rules

- The president must put a pillow under their shirt.
- When the President yells “Taft is Hungry!” or “Taft is Thirsty!” the first player to return to the president with acceptable food or drink may move forward as many spaces as the president says.

Prohibition Rules

If the next day is a big test, we're already hung over, or we are joined by someone who is uncomfortable with drinking

- All alcohol on the table is replaced by soft drinks, snacks, desserts, anything small consumable and wholesome. Including the king.
- Players may still drink, but they may not let anyone who is not drinking see their alcohol
- Players caught drinking have to run to the crazy zone for immunity before being physically caught by another player, or they lose the game.

True American Constitution